

Jamie Sparkes, Specialty Casualty Manager - North Asia, Liberty International Underwriters

Jamie has worked almost exclusively in the insurance industry since 2002. In London, as well as advising insurance companies and brokers and defending policyholders as a lawyer in private practice, he spent six months at AIG and six months at Aon, both in legal roles. He has been based in Asia since 2006 – for 12 months in Singapore (with AIG) and in Hong Kong for over nine years (with DLA Piper, Marsh and currently Liberty).

Prior to moving into a non-legal role at Marsh in 2011, Jamie worked as a specialist insurance lawyer, advising the industry and policyholders on a wide range of legal and regulatory matters, with a particular focus on complex financial lines and specialty insurance. At Marsh, Jamie managed the financial lines team in Hong Kong, handled complex financial lines claims across Greater China (including numerous US securities class actions against Chinese companies), and developed Marsh's transactional risk business across Asia.

Since joining Liberty in 2014, Jamie has been responsible for managing the financial lines portfolio for North Asia and developing the Transaction Liability business across Asia Pacific.
